1 I am the biological brother of Shane Truman Todd ("Shane").

2 I am commonly known as John.

3 I remember feeling very relieved when IO Khaldun allowed me to read Shane's "suicide note". Being Shane's best friend and younger brother, I am very familiar with the way Shane articulates himself. The whole body of the note did not align with Shane's personality. My attention was particularly drawn to the two sentences that he supposedly left my younger brothers and I: "Dear John, Chet and Dylan, I'm so proud of the great men you guys have become. You guys are my best friends. I hope you will always keep family close and faith that God will bless your lives. I love you very much."

4 The way Shane and I wrote to each other was very relevant and up-to-date. There was never any small talk or catching up. Our relationship was a very real and close one. This note had no depth. An example of our correspondence would be:

John Todd:

Shane, hope things are going well but don't think this not playing fantasy bullshit is gonna happen next year.. Ur the Commish. I told Carter I refused to play if he took over the league, he was so pissed he couldn't see straight. I went under an alias "Dennis Matesik" with a team name "jabber walking first base" a sales rep that works with Jace. This is gonna fire Carter and the boys up so bad they're gonna shit their pants. Hope u like the idea. Love you-

Shane Todd:

Haha thanks for the vote of confidence but Carter should do a satisfactory job as interim Commish ... as long as your cool with the occasional unannounced rule change and the fact that you probably won't see your money at seasons end if you make the playoffs. The Dennis Matesik thing is hilarious, any other good names this season? How many times has Sam said Sheesh!!!! so far this season?

5 As soon we entered Shane's apartment at 56 Spottiswoode Park, my mother, Mary Todd, walked straight toward Shane's room/bathroom. I followed behind her. At first, we started examining the wall and overall bathroom layout and appearance. We were looking for signs of holes and bolts in the walls that pulleys could be attached to because IO Khaldun had given us an intricate description on how Shane had drilled holes in the walls with pulleys wrapped around various parts of the bathroom. I touched every inch of the bathroom with my hand, looking for any holes that may have been drilled, or any sign that matched IO Khaldun's explanation of my brother's death. I then moved back and started to examine the door. At this point, my mother asked me to position myself by the door in the way IO Khaldun had described Shane to be hanging from. She then called IO Khaldun to come over to Shane's apartment to get a detailed description of what exactly transpired.

6 When IO Khaldun arrived, we asked him a series of questions, namely regarding the inconsistencies between his story and what we observed, i.e.

the lack of pulleys and holes in the wall. As I was of the same height as Shane, I asked IO Khaldun to explain how Shane had used the chair and hung himself from the door. IO Khaldun tried to explain, but I would demonstrate that it would not have been possible. IO Khaldun did not have an answer for any of the questions that we asked. He told us that he would get back to us, but he never did.

7 Sometime in July 2012, my father, Rick Todd, remembered the hard disk drive he had retrieved from Shane's apartment. He intended to take it to a forensic computer analyst, Ashraf Massoud in Southern California to have it analyzed. As I am an airline pilot, I can "jump seat" or fly at will, hence I volunteered to fly from Kalispell Montana to Ontario, CA to personally deliver the hard disk drive. The next morning, I woke up at 4.15am to catch the 6.05am flight to get to Ontario by 9.40am to meet Ashraf Massoud. It was a quick exchange out of security just 20 feet outside the airport doors, because I had to quickly rush back to my gate for my return flight.

8 I now declare that this statement (signed by me and consisting of 3 pages) is true to the best of my knowledge and belief. I make this statement knowing that if it is tendered in evidence, I may be liable to prosecution if I have willfully stated, in it, anything that I know to be false or do not believe to be true.
